Re-visit John XXIII

Bologna, 31 May - 3 June 2003

The University of Bologna and the John XXIII Foundation for Religious Studies have decided to enhance the value of the 40th Anniversary of A.G. Roncalli's death (3 June 1963), next year, by promoting a scientific symposium.

The high-ranking importance of the Papacy of John XXIII, along with the documents about his life and activities available, right in Bologna, can be the source and the reason of a new season of historical study.

The echos of Pope John personality and image around the globe leads to an involvement of scholars from different continents and cultural areas, in order to achieve a better knowledge of him.
